WILLS CHARGES OF BRIBERY AT SANITARY BOARD

Solons on Pay Roll, Minister Says.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.
Springfield, Ill., May 7.—[Special.]—Nearly all the crimes on the calendar were hurled at the trustees of the sanitary board today in a hearing before Gov. Small on the act which would increase the district's bonding power from $100,000 to $1,000,000. These ranged from alleged embezzlement of funds, to nepotism in general charges of graft, pay roll padding, bribery, and other corruption. They were made by the Rev. Elmer L. Williams, of the Better Government Association, and Albert W. Dilling, former chief engineer of the district while the Lupton administration was in control, and they brought in the names of sundry state senators, representatives, Chicago aldermen, ward politicians, and others.

On $100,000 Expense Account.
As a sample, the Rev. Mr. Williams said that a voucher paid May 12, 1924, showed an expense account of $12,000. "J. J. Crowe, to Molineux, Ill., on Jan. 1, for 1925."

He must have bought a brewery or had a bad night at poker," commented the former minister, amid the shouts of "Boys! Boys!" from several crowd friends.

"It is not necessary to point out," summarized the Rev. Mr. Williams, "that the sanitary board is not only paying the bills but also the salaries of the members."

The ex-minister's list of senators and representatives who have been in the pay roll of the sanitary district follows:

LAWRENCE ORRIN, Democratic member of the house from Chicago; investigator of lake levels in 1924 at $275 a month and a traveling expense of $2,151.40.
GEORGE A. WILLIAMS, Republican member of the house from Chicago; clerk for the district at $200 a month.
ARTHUR T. RUTHERFORD, Republican member of the house from Chicago; lake level investigator at $200 a month.
RICHARD W. BROWN, Republican member of the house from Chicago; assistant attorney of lake levels at $275 a month.
FRANK J. RYAN, Democratic member of the house from Chicago; investigator of lake levels at $200 a month.
DANIEL WINTER, Republican member of the house from Chicago; assistant attorney of lake levels at $275 a month.
FRANK J. RYAN, Democratic member of the house from Chicago; investigator of lake levels at $200 a month.
DANIEL WINTER, Republican member of the house from Chicago; assistant attorney of lake levels at $275 a month.

He is substituted.
When last Christmas the Rev. Mr. Williams says that the name of Charles Williams has been dropped from the list and the name of Harry Mariner substituted for the same title and pay.

Mr. Williams said that Harry Mariner is a nephew of another of a state representative, "and that this arrangement is made when the house is in session."

Shepherd left the north side home of a friend, with whom she has been staying ever since the coroner's jury returned its verdict holding her to the grand jury, and came down to the office of Attorney Robert Stoll, 38 South Dearborn street. Mr. Stoll, formerly associated with Shepherd in the law practice, is acting in an advisory legal capacity to the Shepherds.

Mrs. Shepherd remained at Mr. Stoll's office for several hours. Hard hours they were, she said, because in every corner of the room she imagined she saw "Dad" sitting at his desk.

Go to Court with Dad.

Attorneys William Scott Stewart and W. W. O'Brien, counsel for Mr. Shepherd, were engaged in court work, so Mr. Stoll and the tall lady in black went over to the Criminal court alone.

There Mrs. Shepherd remained outside in a cab while her attorney met Mrs. Claudine M. Peterson, an old friend of the Shepherds.

Anxious to help her friend, but none too pleased with the inevitable publicity that was a by-product of her friendship, Mrs. Peterson, murmuring official passages, went to the office of the clerk of the Criminal court.

There she scheduled her two story frame building at 1241 Westwood avenue and signed the $5,000 bond which Judge Hopkins, Wednesday, had fixed. Then up to the state's attorney's office where the bond must be approved. There was a flurry of excitement when it was discovered that Mrs. Peterson in her excitement had signed Claudine M., whereas the property was recorded under her middle name, Margaret.

WOMAN WITNESS BEATEN

While Chief Justice Harry Olson, moving spirit in bringing about the charges against the Shepherds, was pleading yesterday that harmony prevail among the legal forces in the case, Miss Gladys Roberts, private detective and a leading witness against Shepherd at the inquest, walked into his office and announced she had been beaten by thugs on Wednesday night.

As proof of her assertion, Miss Roberts, a former operative of the Jones Detective agency, pointed to a discolored and swollen eye and other bruises upon her face and arms.

Judge Olson promptly branded the attack upon the girl as being a desperate effort to make her quit talking.

"It looks as if all our witnesses will have to be guarded if they are to survive," said "Dad" at the trial," said Judge Olson. "It simply shows the lengths to which these people will go."

Miss Roberts, however, declined to make the direct charge that her activities in the Shepherd case had brought about the attack. She pointed out, however, that robbery could scarcely have been the motive, as the two men who seized and beat her made no move to strip her handbag.

"Without warning," she said, "two men leaped from an alley and grabbed me by the throat. One man aimed a heavy blow with his fist at my eye and the other threw me to the street and kicked me violently. I managed to roll from under their feet and ran screaming for help."

Police searched the neighborhood but failed to find a trace of the men.

At the inquest Miss Roberts testified that Jones, her employer, urged Shepherd to "tell one story and stick to it. You're talking too much." Jones, she testified, was a bootlegger, and that Shepherd upon the occasion became so drunk in the office that he had to be supported when he left.

VENUE IN PLAYING POKER

George Meade and Raymond Garret, who pleaded guilty of participating in a Carroll County bank robbery in the death of Police Frank Molloy, will have their trial venue changed to Chicago, it was learned today. Judge Thomas J. Lynch will give the order.

SON WHO KILLED FATHER INSANE, MOTHER INSISTS

Tells the Jury of Fatal Fight in Home.

Mother and son faced each other in the courtroom of Judge Hosea Wells yesterday.

On the stand Mrs. Bruce A. Shaw, gray haired under her black hat, dressed in black, and struggling to tell the jury calmly about the calamity that fell on her family between three and four o'clock on the morning of Sunday, Dec. 14.

In the defendant's chair, George D. Shaw, gray checked beneath a stubble of beard, his collar and tie loosened, his head hanging, while he listened to the almost voiceless words that told how he had killed his father on that winter morning after by stabbing him with the German sword he had brought back as a trophy of his fight in 1918.

Insists Her Son Is Crazy.

On the stand, the mother is telling her story. She pauses long as she stumbles over the details of the struggle between her husband and her son. She puts a determined head as she insists that the 23 year old man she calls "George" is crazy.

The mother was called by the court at Assistant State's Attorney Frank Matousek's request; for the state does not wish to be bound by her testimony.

She told how "George" had come home to their house at 522 Belmont avenue, Oak Park, early that Sunday morning, after a drinking party. He brought Hazel Howard with him. Mrs. Shaw told how, still later, she had found the girl in George's room and had ordered her out, giving her a bed in the room, where her daughter, Mrs. Marie Ayres and Mrs. Ayres' six year old child, were sleeping.

"About four o'clock I heard George trying to get into the room where my daughter was," Mrs. Shaw told the twelve men in the jury box. Out of the corner of her eyes only did she look at the hunched-over figure before her. "I called my husband. George had the sword in his hand. My husband said: 'My God, George is crazy.'"

Tells of Fatal Stabbing.

Father and son began to struggle. Calmly, but haltingly, the mother went on with the story of the fight in which she and the daughter tried to aid the father against his son. It ended with the father mortally wounded. Then the police came.

"I'm going to die, mother," my husband said to me," Mrs. Shaw whispered. Then she looked at George. "And then he said: 'See that George is placed in some asylum so all will be protected. He is crazy.'"

VERDICT AS BOMBERS.

Cornelius Corns, 33, 1401 West 57th street; William J. Brown, 54, 5711 Broadway avenue; and Joseph Cronkite, 35, 304 West 38th street, were held to the grand jury in the $50,000 cash by Judge Frank A. Joyce yesterday on charges of robbery.

WOMAN DENIES POISON KILLING AT MURDER TRIAL

Mrs. Zalimas-Weeps on Stand.

Tears slipping reluctantly from under frightened, fluttering eyelids, and then almost a cloudburst of convulsive sobbing and a near collapse on the witness stand—thus was Mrs. Bernice Zalimas yesterday as she told in Judge William V. Brothers' court of the death of her husband, Dominick, whom the state says she murdered with arsenic poison.

The pretty blond woman took the stand late in the afternoon. She finished her direct examination by Attorney Eugene L. McGarry and was in the midst of a trying cross-examination by Assistant State's Attorney Louis N. Blumenthal when court adjourned for the day.

Denies All Charges.

In her direct examination Mrs. Zalimas denied all of the charges made by state's witnesses. She denied that she purchased a pound of arsenic, as testified by a neighborhood druggist; denied she wanted to be rid of her husband, denied she had a love affair with Leo Kallnowski, who delivered bread and rolls at her home every day.

She told of her wedding. It was a matter of some four days of "feasting," as she explained it. Did she kiss Kallnowski at the wedding? "I kissed everybody; all the men like the bride."

Jury Given Record.

She smiled prettily at times as she told her story, until at last she got to the time of Dominick's death, and then slowly her face fell, the little tears started to creep out and slip like raindrops down her pretty, powdered cheeks. She tried to dab them away with a diminutive handkerchief that held the fragrance of hellebore, but they came harder and harder until she was in complete breakdown, so that Judge Brothers had to excuse the jury for fear they would be too much prejudiced in her favor.

Meaningly, a somber, distressed, heartbroken woman, and not at all up-bearing the one who, Police Captain William Stapleton says witnesses told him, covered her husband's face as he passed away with the remark: "I'm sick of looking at the Cross-Examination Rigid."

Prosecutor Blumenthal's cross-examination was a rigid one. He questioned her closely on many points that have come up in the testimony. She answered Blumenthal's questions in that same naive sort of way. It was "nothing like that happened, sir," when she denied a beauty parlor episode with Kallnowski.

AIRPLANES CAN'T DEFEND U. S. FLAG ABROAD: WILBUR

Hartford, Conn., May 7.—[A. P.]—Any reliance solely upon aircraft for defense purposes was declared insufficient by Secretary Wilbur in an address tonight before the Connecticut chamber of commerce.

"To defend America we must be prepared to defend its interests in every corner of the globe," he asserted. "The suggestion that the United States can be defended solely by aircraft is born of ignorance of what constitutes our nation and of its vast and world wide interests, and also of an unwise enthusiasm for one feature of national defense."

"A Chinese wall around continental United States," he continued, "whether of stone, of coast defense batteries, or of bombing planes is no defense of our far-flung commerce and interests. World wide interests require a world wide defense."

"A wise and sane development of the army and navy, a reasonable advance along lines of progress in all means of national defense will remove serious thought of aggression by others."

Judge Anderson Welcomed at Dinner Given by Bar

Judges of the federal courts for the seventh district, sitting in Chicago, Wednesday were the guests of the Chicago Bar association at a dinner given in honor of Judge Albert R. Anderson, recently appointed to the Circuit Court of Appeals. It was held in the association's quarters on the top floor of the Burroughs building.

Attorney James D. Gordon gave an address of welcome to Chicago for Judge Anderson, in which he also urged the lawyers to give some attention to the fact that the federal courts of appeal are clogged with trifling matters.

The "Blue" or attacking forces won the war because they were able to land a force of superior strength and secure a beachhead. A force of superior strength of a superior sea power, adequately equipped, would be able to halt the "Blue" force on the beach and eventually starve it out. The present garrison consists of 14,000 men. Maj. Gen. Lewis, commanding the Hawaiian department, guards 40,000 men as the minimum requirement, and other estimates are high as 70,000. A fire control system and a communication system are badly needed, as well as military and more airplanes.

There are three Japanese in the American army officers' reserve who took part in the recent maneuvers. In any event it would be a very big question, so far as the Hawaiian Islands are concerned, the loyalty of the population. How the islands could stand out without receiving supplies from the outside world is a question which the experts of the army must study.

BULLETIN.
HONOLULU, May 7.—(A. P.)—Thousands of persons at dawn today watched the assembled United States fleet move out of the harbor in an impressive naval parade, departing on maneuvers which will continue until May 29. The battleships, which have been forced to anchor outside Pearl Harbor because of shallow water, followed in the wake of the minor craft.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
HONOLULU, May 7.—One of the principal lessons of the war game just concluded here is the vital necessity of strengthening the land defenses of the Hawaiian Islands. The "Blue," attacking forces won the contest because they were able to land an army of superior strength under the protection of a superior sea power. An adequate "Black" defending army, adequately equipped, would have been able to halt the "Blue" marine force on the beach and eventually to starve it out. In actual war an adequate garrison could prevent the invaders from falling into the hands of the enemy, even if our fleet were to lose control of the sea. Without the Hawaiian Islands the enemy could not afford to attack continental United States because he then would have a landing base on his flank.

40,000 Men Barely Safe.
The present garrison consists of 14,000 men. Maj. Gen. Lewis, commanding the Hawaiian department, reports 40,000 men as the minimum requirement, and other estimates run as high as 70,000. A fire control system and a communication system are also badly needed, as well as more artillery and more airplanes. If the United States were to become involved in a war with Japan the Hawaiian garrison would have a complex problem on its hands. In addition to fighting a foe without it would be called upon to cope with a foe within. Presumably it would be necessary to intern more than 100,000 Japanese residents of the islands. The treatment of thousands of American born Japanese would be a problem in itself. Their leaders say they would be loyal to the United States, and they doubtless would render internment.

Three Japs in U. S. Army.
There are three Japanese in the American army officers' reserve corps who took part in the recent maneuvers. In any event it would be necessary for the garrison to intern and feed the disloyal population and to retain the loyal population. How long the islands could stand out without receiving supplies from the outside is one of the questions which the experts of the army must study. The island of Oahu is the only one in the archipelago which is fortified, and this one has only two guns of a range equal to that of the most powerful in the navy. The guns at the entrance to the Pearl Harbor naval base are two sixteen inch guns with a range of twenty-five miles.

Four More Available.
Four more of these guns are available for the Hawaiian islands and they will be installed when Congress appropriates for their transportation. These sixteen inch guns command only the sea approaches to the harbor, but they can land shells on the beaches on the opposite side of the island.

CLOSE TO PRIZES

Of 6,000 babies examined by the physicians of the National Baby Congress and Health exposition at the American Exposition building this week, Charles H. Greene, 33-months yesterday managed to top the list when he rated a score of 98.7. Young Mr. Greene, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greene, 1548 West Thirtieth street, lost one point because he hadn't been vaccinated and .3 of a point because he had a minor defect in a foot.

In leading the entries to date, the Greene baby nosed ahead of Mary Elizabeth Bacon, 4415 North Spaulding avenue, who had led with a score of 98.6. It is expected that 4,000 or 5,000 more babies will be examined today and tomorrow preparatory to the final selection Sunday of the best infant.

Dorothy Levine, 22, a swimmer, of can land shells on the beaches on the opposite side of the island. There are several other shore batteries with guns of shorter range. These batteries are out of date, and they would be outmanned by enemy battleships. They are undermanned to such an extent that it is difficult for the officers to drill the men properly in the operation of the guns.

The congressional party inspecting the forts today noted that there are not enough men available for each gun to handle the firing efficiently, if accuracy of shooting is to be attained.

Anti-Aircraft Guns.
Great proficiency in anti-aircraft gunnery has been achieved at Fort Shafter under the direction of Col. Charles H. Hilton, who believes he has developed an effective antidote.

At Schofield barracks, in the center of the island, the most impressive sight is that of the tumbledown buildings housing the soldiers and the primitive hospital.

REV. THORNTON MILLS' WIFE IS ASKING DIVORCE

Cruelty Charge Against Resigned Pastor.

Divorce from the Rev. Thornton Mills, whose defiance of the state puritan leaders of the fashionable New England Congregational church at Delaware place and Dearborn street ended with his resignation as pastor, was asked in Superior court yesterday by his wife, Mrs. Helen Mills.

Cruelty and an indulgence in temperamental sallies of passion are charged by the wife against the Rev. Mr. Mills, who, from his pulpit declared the conservativeness of his rich deacons, and welcomed hooches and other unfortunates to his church.

Unhappy Ten Years.
For more than ten years, long before they came to Chicago, the Mills were unsatisfied temperamentally and were not happy in their marital status, the bill declares. It was believed that while Mr. Mills held a pastorate here, his wife hesitated to break up their home. Since the clergyman's resignation on Jan. 25, last, no such tie binds them.

The divorce bill, filed in Superior court by Mrs. Mills' attorney, Clarence Darrow, tells of the marriage in Rockford on June 20, 1908, and names the three children of the Mills' union. They are Thornton A. Jr., 14; Emily Jean, 11, and Robert, 7 years old. Mrs. Mills seeks the custody of all.

Frequently in the last ten years the Rev. Mr. Mills, the bill declares, has exhibited a quick temper. Three specific acts of cruelty are cited, the first occurring in 1918, at Portland, Ore., and two others in Chicago at the Mills' home at 828 Deming place.

He Demies Charges.
Mr. Mills has retained counsel in the domestic rift, and last night he made a denial of the cruelty charges. He will not, however, contest his wife's suit.

FLOWER TRUCK PREY OF THIEVES SEEKING BOOZE

Chicago flower growers and florists have been comparatively immune from the holdup man, but yesterday their turn came. A big truck loaded with flowers, coming in for Mother's day trade and consigned to R. C. Ambler and other Wabash avenue wholesalers, was held up as it entered the city from the Maywood district. H. Ludwig, a grower at 707 Fifteenth street, and an assistant were in charge of the truck. They were made to dismount and enter the robbers' car and were released after the truck, with its load of Mother's day flowers, had been safely driven away by the stickup men. The robbery amounted in value to about $15,000. The police had a theory that the robbery thought home was connected among the blossoms, but the florists contend it evinced an aesthetic tendency among the holdup men. The truck and its burden of flowers have not been located.

Father Tries to Save Son from Fall; Both Hurt

When William Cunningham, 35, 3143 Logan boulevard, saw his 3-year old son, Raymond Jr., falling through a window of their third floor flat yesterday he leaped to save the child, lost his balance, and fell two floors with his son to a porch roof below. Both suffered bruises and the father was unconscious when rescued by policeman John Thurman of the Irving Park station, who happened to be passing. Neither are in serious condition.

trict in three different counties "with wonderful success."

"Dances in Limelight"

"Such men as the Rev. Mr. Williams are dancing in the limelight in the belief that they are a second edition of Christ on earth," said Lee O'Neill Brown. "There will be a terrible disaster if the district is not given sufficient money to construct the urgently needed plants."

The Rev. Mr. Williams charged that the following relatives of President Lawrence F. King are now of have been on the district pay roll: J. T. King, a brother, cost engineer at $300 a month; Michael King, cousin, rodman at $175 a month; G. D. King, brother, superintendent of Calumet plant at $410 a month; Mary E. King, secretary at $200 a month, and T. King, cousin, senior inspector at $225 a month.

To Trustee Michael Rosenberg, the Rev. Mr. Williams attached these relatives: Ed Rosenberg, brother, investigator of law department, $250 a month; L. Edelstein, brother-in-law, law investigator at $200 a month; H. Edelstein, brother-in-law, rodman, at $175 a month; Martin H. Edelstein, brother-in-law, superintendent of supply yard at $275 a month; Jennette Rosenberg, cousin, pay roll clerk, at $175 a month.

Trustees Question Charges.

Both King and Rosenberg questioned the accuracy of the charges, but the minister went on reading his indictment.

He presented a list of vouchers for expenses of trips made by trustees. He commented: "Three expenditures are not itemized, nor are there any signatures on any of the vouchers by the men who received these amounts."

The hearing was getting so highly interesting by this time and so many leaders of both houses crowded into the governor's office that legislative business was brought almost to a standstill. For the voucher paying these bills the Rev. Mr. Williams gave the date of Aug. 14, 1924.

Some Expense Items.

Some of the items recited follow:

"Expenses of T. J. Crowe, on federal relations committee visiting towns and villages, June 19 and subsequent dates, $1,000.

"Expenses of H. H. Ramey, May 8 and 20, 1924, $2,730.

"Expenses trip of trustees, April 10 and 26, 1924, to Washington and New York, $4,048.32.

"Expense of trip of trustees, May 8, 1924, to Washington and New York, $3,045.

"Expense of trip of trustees, May 23 and June 10, to Washington and New York, $2,506.52.

"Trip of trustees to Washington and New York, etc., Feb. 8, 1924, $4,995.

"Voucher dated May 13, 1924, $1,000, "Morris Heller, trip to New York, and others, $400.

"Mr. Williams, for T. J. Crowe, March 14, 1924, $725.

"T. J. Crowe, expenses, April 7, 1924, $300.

"Expenses on trip to New York and Washington, March 15, $4,000.

"Expenses on trip to New York and Washington, April 12, 1924, $3,000.

"Paul Rosenberg for trip for information, $124.

"Mr. Dilling also supplied some of these same expense accounts and others. Among the 1924 items he questioned were the following:

"Expenses of trustees' trip to Canada, Washington, and New York, $20,200.

"Trustee T. J. Crowe, expenses, $1,440.

"Lola Harold, Hoover & Dent, attorney's fees, $2,000. (Lola was a former alderman and is now a judge.) $2,000.

"In 1925, March 28, expenses of trustees' trip to Springfield, $1,725.

"April 17, expenses of trustees' trip to Springfield, $1,585; railroad transportation for trustees, $922.27.

"The Rev. Mr. Williams commented on the cost of trips to the state capital as follows:

"I can and do make the trip for $25."

Among those on the March, 1924, pay roll of the district the Rev. Mr. Williams gave the following:

C. J. AGNEW, former Chicago alderman, $300 a month on lake level.

ALD. T. J. BOWLES of Chicago, $225 a month on lake level.

H. JOHNSON, former alderman, $300 a month on lake level.

LOUIS POQUETTE, former city attorney, $300 a month on lake level.

ANTON ZEMAN, former judge and ward commissioner, $21 a month on lake level.

JOHN J. GORMAN, congressman, $500 a month on lake level.

JOHN L. WALKER, representative of State, $410 a month on lake level.

H. LEVY, cousin of Robert Levy, former United States marshal, $250 a month on lake level.

WILLIAM H. REED, former city official and ward commissioner, $410 a month on lake level.

ERNEST WITKALL, former chairman of the state industrial commission and ward commissioner, $410 a month.

MAJ. CARLOS AMER, former civil service commissioner, $410 a month on lake level.

JOHN P. GARNER, former alderman, $300 a month.

JOHN G. NETTLETON, Washington, D. C., Congressman Madison's private secretary, $250.

H. S. EVERTS, brother of Representative Everts, $300 a month.

GEORGE HOFFMAN, ward commissioner, $410 a month on lake level.

DANIEL HUBBERT, former state master, $300 a month.

ROBERT E. JAMES, Evanston, alderman, $300 a month.

Charge Against Brundage.

The Rev. Mr. Williams also charged that former Attorney General Brundage had not earned the fees paid him as a lawyer for the district in the case of the stockyards packers.

The material presented by Dilling was of the same character. He claimed he was forced out as chief engineer of the district "because of my refusal to give the stamp of approval to the manipulation of bids, the illegal advertising and awarding of contracts, the still greater padding of already swollen pay rolls, and the placing on jobs of political inspectors and engineers friendly to the contractors doing the job."

He claimed that "lake levels" is being used to waste millions of dollars and that "the main thought of the trustees seems to be to secure still more millions to waste."

Has Until Monday.

The main question at issue was scarcely touched in the hearing. The governor has until Monday midnight to sign or veto the act. The additional money is needed for the construction of sewage treatment plants.

Maj. Rufus Putnam, United States district engineer in Chicago, told the governor that the federal government will require certain plants in the next five years, of which he estimated the cost at approximately $43,000,000. He detailed the work necessary.

But the hearing gave an opportunity to register some strong complaints against the district.

NETS MARSHAL
FORCES FOR WA
ON HOUSE DRY

Seek to Push Thro
Prohibition Repeal.

BY FRANK BUTZOW,
Springfield, Ill., May 7.—[Speci-
Wife of the Illinois house of r-representatives assembled their forces for a determined drive next against Anti-Saloon league dom-in Springfield.

They beat the dyes in the se-ship contest last January, blocked Anti-Saloon league's attempt to ora state prohibition bureau last wand are now centering their opera-on an effort to repeal the Illinois hibition act and the search and se-laws.

Step Forward Sen.

The house wets have no doubt about the ultimate result of their efforts to change the liquor laws at session. They know the senate is but they think a victory in the rehouse at this session will be a big forward in their program to modify dry laws. The senate demonstrate dryness yesterday by passing the hibition commissioner bill and send-it back to the house.

The wets have been weakened by loss of several votes. Representative
Sam Hyatt (Dem. Adams) died recently; Carl Mueller (Rep. Chicago Ill.) in Springfield hospital; for-Speaker Shanahan has been ab-from the entire session on account illness, and Representative Ly-(Dem. Chicago) is recovering from operation.

Despite this loss in the wet line
J. J. O'Grady (Dem., Chicago), leader, said he expects to muster necessary seventy-seven votes to the repealer Tuesday.

Both Claim Strength.

Both wets and dyes are claim-more strength than they showed

WETS MARSHAL FORCES FOR WAR ON HOUSE DRY

Seek to Push Through Prohibition Repeal.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Chicago, Ill., May 7.—[Special.]—Wets of the Illinois house of representatives assembled their forces today for a determined drive next week against Anti-Saloon league domination in Springfield.

They beat the dries in the speaker election last January, blocked the Anti-Saloon league's attempt to create a new prohibition bureau last week, and are now centering their operations on an effort to repeal the Illinois prohibition act and the search and seizure law.

Step Forward Seen.

The house wets have no delusions about the ultimate result of their efforts to change the liquor laws at this session. They know the senate is dry, but they think a victory in the lower house at this session will be a big step forward in their program to modify the law. The senate demonstrated its loyalty yesterday by passing the prohibition amendment bill and sending it back to the house.

The wets have been weakened by the loss of several votes. Representative John Hyatt (Dem., Adams) died recently; Carl Mueller, (Rep., Chicago) is in Springfield hospital; former speaker Shanahan has been absent from the entire session on account of illness, and Representative Lipka, (Dem., Chicago) is recovering from an operation.

Despite this loss in the wet lineup, F. J. O'Grady (Dem., Chicago), wet leader, said he expects to muster the necessary seventy-seven votes to pass the repeal Tuesday.

Both Claim Strength.

Both wets and dries are claiming more strength than they showed in their first fight over the prohibition law. It probably will receive another favorable recommendation from the judiciary committee next week. Mrs. Rena Elrod, (Rep., Chicago) alone vote for the boxing bill yesterday brought down the House, filled the speaker's chair today while Speaker Scholten attended the hearing on the Chicago military district bond bill, the received another ovation as pages carried in huge bouquets of flowers.

A demand for an investigation of the casualty information clearing house, 594 South La Salle street, was made today by Representative Rew (Rep., Dallas). His resolution says the clearing house is reported to be controlled by foreign insurance companies that annually collect millions in Illinois to send abroad.

DAY IN SPRINGFIELD

Charges of extravagance and graft hurled against Chicago sanitary district in hearing before Gov. Small.

SENATE.

Senator Boehm presented new proposal for municipal ownership of traction lines.

Senator MacMurray proposed constitutional amendment for state income tax.

Senator Hicks introduced bill required by law as substitute for his re-apportionment resolution.

Bill passed—Springer bill to appropriate $30,000 for agricultural experiment station in Cook county. The bill to add nineteen acres to old Salem state park.

Senator Boyd asked appointment of committee to study question whether all offices of state departments outside Springfield should be brought to capital.

HOUSE.

Wets laid plans to repeal search and seizure and state prohibition law. Representative Rew demanded investigation of casualty information clearing house in Chicago.

Bill to make firemen's pensions fluctuate with wage scale failed to pass, but was saved for later roll call.

Mrs. Rena Elrod acts as speaker and advanced thirty-two bills.

BUSCH STARTS ON SUBSTITUTE FOR BARR BILL

Preparation of a terminable permit bill which he will offer as a substitute for the pending Barr traction bill to a subcommittee of the state senate utility committee when it meets in his office on Monday was undertaken by Corporation Counsel Francis X. Busch yesterday.

The bill, when drafted, Mr. Busch emphasized, will be his personal view of how the terminable franchise plan can be applied to Chicago's traction problem.

Mayor Dever has insisted that he will not be committed to the terminable permit scheme until he has studied the provisions of some law specifically designed to meet local needs and embodying in it the proposed indefinite grant plan.

Monday's conference with the senators should result in the development of a law which will permit a solution of the traction problem and establish home rule, Mr. Busch said.

During the day it was announced that Mr. Busch had ordered the preparation of a suit against the Chicago Surface lines to recover about $500,000 claimed by the city as interest on its 55 per cent share of the traction lines' net divisible receipts during the Thompson administration.

800 Chicago Firms Plan Exhibits at Products Show

Nearly all the booths in the Illinois Products exposition, which will be held in the American Exposition palace Oct. 8 to 17, have been contracted for, it was announced yesterday. Approximately 800 firms in Chicago alone will have exhibits at the second annual exposition.

SHERIFF'S AID UNDER FIRE FOR COLLECTION JOB

Investigation of the activities of Herbert R. Lee, 1333 Winnemac avenue, an employee of the sheriff's office, under whose name a collection agency was operated, was begun yesterday by Sheriff Peter M. Hoffman.

Shown a letter with the heading, "Herbert R. Lee, Deputy Sheriff of Cook County, Illinois, 1333 Winnemac avenue," and demanding the payment of a debt, Sheriff Hoffman summoned Lee, who is a night watchman at the county building, to his office. The letter bears resemblance to an official notice.

The sheriff's investigation also concerned Lee's arrest on May 2 for driving his car while intoxicated. At that time his car collided with another. Lee declared he had been employed to do collection work for an Aurora company outside of county office hours. The form letter, he insisted, was sent out without his knowledge by the company, and when he learned of it he immediately notified the company to cease the practice, he declared.

Bernard Mullaney Quits as Jury Commissioner

Bernard J. Mullaney, vice president of the People's Gas company, resigned his office of jury commissioner, it was learned yesterday. He will continue to serve, however, until the judges of the Circuit and Superior courts, who meet next Tuesday, are able to name his successor.

This Couple Has Been Wed 66 Years; Will Celebrate

Both Mr. Whigam, who is 83 years old, and Mrs. Whigam, who is 85 years old, were born and have lived all their lives in Lake county. Mr. Whigam was born in 1834 in the first house built in Lake county.

Old British Convict Ship Docks at State Street

wears longest when laid by the Richardson-Method

A few reasons why:

- (1) The heavy rag felt which is glued to the floor absorbs the lateral expansion and contraction, preventing the Linoleum from bulging.
- (2) By our Method the Linoleum becomes a smooth, waterproof, germ-proof floor which is easily cleaned and is free from cracks.
- (3) If necessary, the Linoleum may be removed at any time without damage to either the Linoleum or the floor.
- (4) The rag felt lining cushions the Linoleum, making it resilient and thereby lengthening its life.

DE KALB COUNTY JAIL CHARMING, VISIT DISCLOSES

Sheriff Delightful Host to Federal Guests.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

There's no getting away from the fact that being in jail is a nuisance, even to the most retiring nature. But at that, there are jails and jails, and although a convicted man can't always pick his spot, it's nice to know some of the lockups in these parts that make the closest approach to the comforts of home.

A tour of the principal jails used by the federal courts to incarcerate offenders convicted here has just been completed by a Tribune representative. All the little features that add to the attractiveness of a jail were carefully compiled. The tally has been studiously checked up by a committee of experts and first prize is hereby awarded to the De Kalb county jail at Syracuse.

Artistic and Homelike.
In the first place, the Syracuse jail is a handsome structure architecturally. And further, so far as was observed, it is the only county house in northern Illinois that has lace curtains in the barred windows of the cell house. But there is much else. Syracuse didn't win the prize solely on these outward signs of refinement.

E. E. Crawford, now sheriff at Syracuse, is a big, jovial man who knows folks. The bull pen group of cells holds, as a rule, Sheriff Crawford says, the "deserted riffraff." Many are unappreciative of good treatment, and while they are not mistreated, the sheriff says, their early dispositions are rewarded by a comparative lack of lockup elegance. Many derelicts, particularly dope addicts (but few federal offense bootleggers), are assigned to this locale.

On the second floor is a large, well lighted exercise room, with a small cell block at one end. Here are to be found, roaming about leisurely, what Sheriff Crawford describes as a "better grade of fellows."

These include men of some means, such as bankrupted schemers, minor bootleggers, and the like. The present guest roll in this vast facility on Victor Weinshanker, better known in Chicago night life circles as "Rasputin, the Mad Monk." It seems that Ras is in on charges that he got mixed up with the Dyer set in driving a fine car, not his own, up from the con man zone of Florida.

Also on the second floor is the women's ward. At present there are twelve women and girls locked up here. Two of them are dope, or "junkies," as they are universally called in jail jargon.

Blue Room Is Charming.
But the crown of the crown of jail accommodations was found in what is known to present and former inmates of the jail as the "blue room"—one of two rooms which the sheriff terms "the hospital," which he reserves for "the higher grade of federal prisoners."

In some jails, the Cook county and the Kane county, for instance, prisoners who can stand the traffic occasionally are allowed to send out for their meals. The delays and fluctuating service existent in such arrangements are not to be suffered at Syracuse, for all special meals are prepared in the house under the direct supervision of Sheriff Crawford, who, he says, works on a cost plus system.

Special meals also are available for all other prisoners who have the price.

but as in the case of the Blue room boys, the sheriff handles the groceries. Among the notables who have found the Blue room pleasant, it is said, is Mike de Piko Heiler, a great lover of the creature comforts, in or out of jail. There always is a long waiting list, especially when the jail is housing well known bootleggers, according to those who claim to be familiar with the plan.

Because of the ideal equipment and capacity of his house, Sheriff Crawford has established what is reported to be a record in jail patronage by the Chicago United States marshal's office during the last 17 months.

During that time he has received and discharged 3,253 prisoners, of whom more than 200 were federal.

At present the population of the jail is 74. Of these, 44 are government prisoners and 30 are county. Of the 44 government, thirty are narcotics, eight are bootleggers, and six are awaiting trial for mail or other thefts.

SENSE AND DISARMAMENT.

When the head of our delegation to the conference on arms disarmament imported into his address references to disarmament, he invited the prompt and highly practical response made by the French delegate, M. Boncour. As we understand it, the conference is to deal with the problems of illicit traffic in arms, a subject difficult and perhaps important enough to stand on its own bottom. But the French delegation inferred, we think fairly, that Mr. Burton looked upon the conference as a vestibule to the disarmament proposal, and M. Boncour's prompt candor, we hope, will dispel a little of the sentimentality and superficial generalizing which clouds some conspicuous American opinion on that subject.

It is very easy for Americans to talk offhand of disarmament or arms reduction with no powerful neighbor nearer than three thousand miles or so, with vast material resources and a hundred and fourteen millions of energetic and intelligent citizens to defend the national being. We are not by any means immune from attack or guaranteed against the sacrifices of war, but our national existence is not endangered by any probable combination in our generation and we have manifested our appreciation of that relatively comfortable condition by reducing our armament voluntarily to about the lowest limits consistent with our responsibilities, if not lower. But in justice and common sense we ought to distinguish between our problem of reduction, which is largely a matter of economy, and that of France or any other country in Europe. If we will so distinguish, if we will put ourselves in the shoes, say, of a Frenchman, we shall be less free with the Utopian generalities and easy proposals with which our pacifists and internationalists indulge their altruistic aspirations. When we brood reduction of armament to the French we touch a tragic fact in the national consciousness, we raise no mere phantom, but a problem the most vital of all conceivable problems, and considering our own relative security, we could wish our representatives would refrain from smug generalities and our government from taking the initiative in a field of difficult and delicate experiment in which we have so much less at stake than the peoples we presume to advise.

The Washington conference had definite limits and dealt with subject matter in which our stakes and our action were important if not decisive. But as to land armament, we are very remotely involved. Our army is small and our situation such as to put it out of consideration as an agent of aggression, except in such combination as our national policy and disposition makes most improbable. But any American, not fuddled by the arising and sentimentalizing without regard to actual conditions, if he will trouble to examine these conditions in Europe, will see how dangerous and difficult the complicated question of armament reduction is, if not nothing of the Utopian notion of complete disarmament, is for European governments and peoples. We think most Americans who give thought to such matters and to the state of Europe, are not disposed to meddle or play the monitor abroad, and we could wish our representatives and our government at Washington were more impressed with this fact and much less than they seem to be with the resolutions of leagues and associations representing, we are confident, a small though well organized and vociferous minority of our people.

We do not underestimate the influence of organized minority in our affairs. It is much greater than it ought to be. It is responsible for a multiplicity of unenforceable legislation and for tendencies subversive to the sound sense of American government. But it follows from this unfortunate fact, that our government in its action and in its interferences should resist the special pressure of minority opinion and try to express strictly the general sense of the nation. As to our international policy, we think this sense has been emphatically expressed in recent years whenever it had opportunity of expression and there should be no doubt about it in the state department or elsewhere.

THE HABITUAL CRIMINAL AND THE LAW.

We do not presume to an opinion on the merits of the habitual criminal act, as to which Mr. Crowe and Mr. Marshall take issue with Judge David, but the judge deserves thanks for an effort to correct present practice as to persistent offenders.

It has seemed to us a perversion of the principle punishing parole and reduction of sentence through good behavior to give the full benefit of these concessions to habitual criminals. It is an offense to justice and public policy to shorten a proper term of punishment by perhaps almost 50 per cent when the culprit has repeatedly offended against society. Why should he be turned loose as a reward for behaving himself under prison surveillance and restraint? By this means we have lightened penalties without realizing it, and while we agree with Mr. Crowe that to fix too heavy a penalty to prevent its being inflicted, we think the penalty for habitual offenders should be appropriate to the circumstances of the case; that is, it should increase in severity with repetition of the offense or of an offense of equal gravity. In fact, when the culprit has shown by repeated offenses that he is in all probability incor-rightly, he should be sentenced to permanent confinement.

Our judges of experience in criminal cases, our prosecutors and responsible members of the bar, brought to give special attention to existing law and practice dealing with the professional criminal as regards the indeterminate sentence, the reduction of his term, graduation of penalty for repeated offenses, and parole. Perhaps the conference of judges and officials recently formed is considering this. If not, it should do so.

MAKE THE TRAFFIC LAWS UNIFORM.

Chief Collins of the city police and the chiefs of police of all the park boards in the city have agreed upon a uniform interpretation of the traffic signals. The orange light is not to mean "Go" under any circumstances. It is to mean "Get ready." Drivers who speed across streets after the orange light has flashed are to be prosecuted.

Here is a step in advance. It is, however, only a first step. There are still diverse traffic regulations in interpretations of traffic regulations. You will be arrested by the west park police on Washington boulevard for violating a regulation which is not enforced on Michigan boulevard by the south park police nor on a through street by the city police. Illegal parking is one thing in Lincoln park and another in another part of the city. And so on.

The conflicting regulations should be made uniform in the interest of the motorist anxious to obey the law and especially in the interest of safety. The street traffic committee of the Association of Commerce has formulated a code of rules after an exhaustive study. This code should be approved at once by all the chiefs of police. If later it is found faulty in particular details, it can be modified.

THE HOUSE APPROVES BOXING.

The house of representatives at Springfield has approved the bill to legalize professional boxing in Illinois. The vote was 85 to 42. The measure now goes to the senate, which will probably approve it, too, the reporters say. A notable incident in the closing debate in the house was the speech for the bill by Mrs. Rena Elrod, a member from Chicago.

The favorable progress which the bill has made should be a matter for general congratulation. Boxing is in itself an admirable sport and boxing exhibitions provide a harmless method of working off an excess of emotional energy in the spectators. The people who think the sport is brutal and degrading need not attend the bouts. No one has the right to object if the enemies of boxing counsel others not to attend; but every one has a right to protest against prohibiting a sport which thousands of good citizens enjoy.

The overwhelming approval of the bill in the house suggests that the bigots are no longer secure in the saddle. The scandalous failure of prohibition has gone a long way toward unseating them. The country seems to be swinging back again toward the liberalism of the founding fathers. If that is not a matter for general congratulation, we don't know what is.

A LANDING FIELD IN GRANT PARK.

Edward J. Kelly, speaking for the south park board, of which he is president, has made a formal offer of half the land needed for an aviation field near the stadium in Grant park. The rest of the land must be provided by some other governmental agency or by private subscription.

When the field is in service, Chicago will be better equipped for commercial aviation than any other great city in the world, for no other city will have a field so centrally placed. New York's landing fields are situated on Long Island, an hour from the heart of the city. Paris and London are similarly handicapped. Aviation enthusiasts in New York are trying to induce the government to give up Governor's island in the bay, tear down the barracks and make of the island a landing field, but thus far they have made small progress. Chicago, happily, will have to dispossess no one to obtain the land required. Here it is merely a question of reclaiming the land from the bottom of the lake.

In offering to defray only half the expense, Mr. Kelly has been well advised. It would have been unfair to have the south park system pay for an improvement which will be of service to the entire city. Even more important will be the educational value of the campaign which will now have to be undertaken to obtain the field. Chicago business men through the Association of Commerce have declared themselves for the project, but many of them to whom aviation will be of great service are perhaps not yet aware of its business possibilities. The campaign will do much toward obtaining commercial cargoes for the planes as soon as services are started.

The interest which the south park board has shown marks it again as one of the few governmental bodies in the city with energy and imagination. The board deserves the thanks of the city.

Editorial of the Day

AMERICAN MISTRUST OF PRECEDENT.

An explanation of America's industrial progress and social betterment may be found in the answers of 100 Harvard students to a questionnaire prepared by those interested in the relation of heredity to the young man's choice of a profession. In general, the answers reveal a strong disinclination on the part of Harvard men to follow the occupations of their fathers, except in the professions of law, medicine, and literature. The ministry is the only profession which does not attract recruits among the sons. Almost none of the class of '25 plan to enter the ministry, although some of them set down that their fathers were clergymen.

This tendency of the new generation to ignore the ambitions of its elders is characteristic of America. Although and in many respects, it is fortunate there is often a vehement contempt on the part of the son for the business which made it possible for the father to rear a family. While this may cause grief on the western slope, it makes for a shifting of economic and social elements which keep this nation in the main social state that serves democracy best.

In Europe, especially in England and France, family pride in the traditional occupation is so great that often businesses are handed down from generation to generation, just as titles in England and France before the revolution. Commoners have a profound respect for nobility, albeit it sometimes takes factious forms in the shape of the cultured commoner, and the established business of the family is often as much a part of the inheritance of the son as the family name. Naturally, opportunities are fewer, and whatever is gained in family experience is checked in lack of goad.

Particularly in the trades in America does the refusal of the son to follow in the father's footsteps become manifest. The reverse is true in England, and while in this country we are developing a new labor element, in the other countries there are classes which may result in efficiency but which hinder general progress.

It is typical of American youth that footprints in the sands of time need not be made in the business of passing generations.

EXPLORATIONS IN LIGHT. STEENBOCK and Hess continue their search for the cause of the effects of light. Christopher Columbus, Pizarro, Cortes, and Marco Polo (taking the latter at his word) never found an unknown world more feverishly awaiting discovery.

Steenbock is working in Madison, Wisconsin, and Hess in New York City. One is an agricultural chemist and the other a baby specialist. They may never see each other. But, with scientific precision, each finds treasures where the other says there were and each locates islands of delight for the other to explore. Neither ever succeeds in finding the other's treasure, even a little ways from the exact truth.

The latest is from Steenbock and Daniels. They find it possible to produce the fat-soluble vitamins in practically all fresh foods. Lettuce, olive oil, corn oil, coconut oil, cotton seed oil, wheat, rolled oats, corn, hominy, cream of wheat, shredded wheat, cornstarch, milk, and egg yolk and in cod liver oil.

If any of these foods are without this principle, or have it in very small quantities, that food can be made fairly rich by exposure for thirty minutes to the light of a Coolidge ray light. The food must be fresh.

They found that the principle was carried by a set of fattylike bodies called sterols. Cholesterol is one of these. It is made by the action of sunlight rich in the long wave rays on the sterols. Right recently Hess suggested that cow's milk did not contain it unless the cows stayed in the sunlight and ate foods fresh from sunlight. He even hinted that we might treat milk cows with light to make their milk richer in this principle. Har, Steenbock and Elvehjem have been successfully treating milk goats with light.

The great field for the use of radiated foods now seems to be the cure and the prevention of rickets. At least, that is what Hess has found. Here are some new fields that are opening. Tuberculosis, certain forms of anemia, pernicious anemia, and all those spasmoid disorders in which the lime balance of the body is off.

A BAD LOT.

Chicago, May 4.—(To the Editor of the People.)—On the corner of 17th and Linn avenue is a vacant lot loaded with rubbish and tin cans. The street cleaners have dumped their carts here. It is near a school and is about all the playground the children have. This rubbish is a menace to their health. The lot has never been cleaned since I lived here. G. J. Let referred to is about 25x125 and is filled in for about six feet from the edge of the sidewalk, the remainder being low. Street sweeper dumped about four loads of street dirt here and this will be removed and dumped elsewhere to find another place for the dump. At about 10:30 a. m. the lot was also cleaned of whatever rubbish was there.

MAY 5, 1865. GOLDBERG, N. C.—The task of paroling Gen. Joseph E. Johnston's rebel army has just ended. Every officer and man has taken an obligation not to take up arms against the United States government. Officers were allowed to retain their side arms and private horses and personal baggage. Three corps were surrendered—Henderson's, C. D. Lee's, and Stewart's—with about 1,000 cavalry under Hampton, Butler, and White. The number paroled is about 28,000.

In the house of lords Sir George Grey gave notice that he would move an address to Queen Victoria expressing sorrow and indignation over the assassination of President Lincoln and praying her to convey that expression to America. Two great meetings were held in Liverpool at which resolutions were adopted expressing horror and deep sorrow over the assassination.

NEW YORK.—The Tribune's Washington special says: "The President has been strongly urged by prominent gentlemen here to subject to arrest and trial such men as 'Buck' Pomeroy of the La Crosse, Wis., Democrat, and the editor of the Chicago Times, who during the last year have publicly advised and excited the assassination of Mr. Lincoln. The subject is receiving serious consideration."

CHICAGO.—On last July 1 the Chicago organ of treason urged the assassination of Abraham Lincoln in these words: "He could not be more worthy than the man who would be infinitely less mischievous and his corpse, repulsive as it would be in its freshest state and richest and most graceful habiliments, would yet be the most appropriate sacrifice which the loyal nation could offer to atone for its sin of treason to its liberty and its despotism."

HISTORY FOR ALL OF US

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

With much enjoyment and many promptings to reflection, I saw the picture play called "Madame Sans Gêne," which is on view at the Roosevelt theater.

This is wonderful, thought I, this piquant comedy of manners—and of no manners—moving with so much vivacity and brightness against imperial backgrounds.

To picture a great age—gone now these one hundred and ten years—to get it in motion again, to touch it with life and laughter, to find the source of its tears, to set its banners fluttering on the identical heights where once they signaled triumph, to order out its patrols and to form again in the avenues of a capital and in the courtyards of a palace its escorts of kings, and to do all this amid the veritable scenes of enormous transactions, is a great service to popular culture.

It is a great service to popular culture because the achievement is carried direct to the people. For a few times they can buy it.

It is a great service to popular culture because it is brought to pass in a cultivated way—with a splendor that pares no expense, but with a sense of proportion that keeps splendor significant.

That fine note of reticence is the important note of this picture. With every temptation to overindulge and to overstep its bounds, it has been held within bounds. Its scheme is elegant and extensive, but the historic detail which makes the scene so intimate, so actual, and so instructive, is not blurred.

An actor impersonating a sovereign who re-shaped boundaries from the Rhine to the Nile leans upon a desk at which that sovereign was wont to sit. As the actor moves through his pantomime and display you see upon the panels of the desk most exquisite carving which the mighty hands must often have touched. Such is but a single and more detail and a wealth of details. The accumulation of them during two hours of pagantry and of drama produces an effect on the lightest-minded beholder. He feels the sense of a show that is a re-creation. For his history, the most important study for free citizens, has been subtly and gloriously retouched to life.

Working amid these eloquent surroundings, where every terrace, every cabinet chamber, every hall of state still echo with the steps of empire builders and empire wreckers, had its effect. I think that the actors and the stage managers and the picture. They respected their surroundings. Hence there is less circus and more meaning in "Madame Sans Gêne" than in any other picture I have seen in either Europe or the United States.

This new note of reticence, this artistic willingness to let an effect be an effect—freighted and expediently—instead of tugging it out to make a "sensation," meant, perhaps, a good deal more to me than it would to the chronic follower of the movies.

It meant more to me because in ten years I have seen hardly more than scores of motion pictures, and those the more notable ones of foreign and native producers. Therefore, while viewing this notable new one I was guided by definite contrasts and could see how "Madame Sans Gêne" lavished the right proportion, not big for the sake of big, but judiciously sensationalized for the sake of sensation.

The picture's note, in short, is ingratiating. It piques interest. The beholder is spared the worry of having the trappings and the outward show of an act pitched at him by an over-enthusiastic movie magnate with nothing but money in the back of his head. Those swift sorties of the revolutionaries down narrow streets, that brief glimpse of a far horizon of tossing standards, that poised gleam of the supreme man in the white war horse, are all admirably restrained. They are seen, they allure, and they give as rapidly as they do decisively, the feel and the splendor of those six and twenty illustrious years comprised in the period of the Revolution and the First Empire. They are seen, they allure, and they give as rapidly as they do decisively, the feel and the splendor of those six and twenty illustrious years comprised in the period of the Revolution and the First Empire.

No period in the history of mankind could more completely meet the first requirement of the motion picture art than the period of Napoleon's rise and fall. That first requirement is animation, and that quarter of a century was so fearfully and incessantly animated that for thirty-five years after its close Europe lay motionless. It was an age of convulsion, change, illumination, and, as all important breeds are. The men of that breed—and most of its women—wanted everything. They had the mind to get everything. They got it. They held it long enough to make a deal of it. They carry it even better. They are all suggestive, but they are not the essence of the show.

Among the most dramatic figures of that age was this Catherine, duchess of Dantzig, known to a world that cheered, laughed and loved her as Madame Sans Gêne. In virtue she was one of the few self-controlled women of the Napoleonic court; in conversation she was unshaken. As a figure in history she is uncouth but quaint and endearing as a figure in comedy she is as authentic as Beatrice and Kate Hardcastle and Lady Teazle and Lady Gay Sparker and Marie Dressler. She said everything that came into her mind, which was an active and untutored mind, and she said it forcibly.

Great Sardou—great in his definitions—put this woman in comedy three years ago, and the interpretation of her comedy by the picture of two commanding artists of the nineteenth century stage. Mme. Rejane played her, and that performance was all daisie and swift thrust, with the emphasis on the gamine; Ellen Terry played her, and the emphasis was on the good heart and the romping—but not really—gaucherie.

Our townswoman, Miss Kathryn Kiser, was the first to bring her to our stage. She went to Paris, sat for many evenings with attentive eyes before Rejane, and the replica she brought back was in every way commendable.

The part is a difficult one to act because it is easily overacted. Miss Gloria Swanson, who now brings it to the screen, does not escape all its treacheries. She is a tireless maul, but the role of Catherine, the landlady, Catherine the wife of a marshal and the wife of France is more than a role to be romped through, for here ignorance, ineptitude, gaucherie are to be made forgotten by the commanding assertion of virtue, fortitude, and innate goodness. You are to behold a woman of no manners but of great heart. And the heart must come out. When Miss Swanson takes time she succeeds in imparting the grand attributes of the character; when she hurries—and the screen seems sometimes to put her in a panic of hurry—she is mostly flounce and vehemence. Vehemence is one thing and vigor is another. Miss Swanson has vehemence.

At her best effects, invariably she prodigies them when she takes her time. The dispute with the emperor over the 20 year old wash bill is well within her range and she is easy and pointed in it, shading the scene off into a note of wit and delicate pathos. The display of the wound is an episode infinitely so dramatic that no intelligent screen could but see how Miss Swanson, but in the great scene of the denunciation of the sister queens hurry again impels her, and she is only a virago. Rejane was a lioness there.

In the chanting of the Marseillaise she goes full steam ahead and is splendid. Only show on a street scene she is not there. For feel that you feel, the vivacity of her tones, so expressive, so full throated, and so bright eyed is she. There, as does many a scene of this superb picture play, she puts the trumpet note back into glorious long gone.

STARTING TOGETHER. "Sergeant," said the artillery recruit, "please pick out a new gentle horse for me, won't you?" "Have you ever ridden before?" "No." "Ah!—the recruit." "Then here's just the animal for you. This horse has been ridden down on a start before."—Boswell Transcript.

WINE IN THE BIBLE. Chicago, May 7.—Were it not sacrilegious, it would be amusing to see some people ignorantly twisting the holy scripture relative to what the Bible says about wine. In this, as in all other things, God's word is not contradictory, but consistently holds together.

Isa. 63:6 furnishes the key: "New wine is found in the cluster," and "a blessing is in it." The "fruit of the vine" Matt. 23:23, "with unleavened bread, was used at the Old Testament Passover supper, and should be used today at the New Testament Lord's supper. Church folk who demand an exemption in dry law enforcement help to perpetuate the error of the eighteenth amendment. I say this as a 100 per cent temperance clergyman. He boose is utterly out of place any place on this earth. It is in the house of God. Clergymen, please read Lev. 19:29.

In older times, before the introduction of glass or such glassed pottery bottles in which the unfettered "fruit of the vine" could be preserved indefinitely, the "new wine" was put up in the "new bottle" skins, the only manner in which, in those days, they could preserve it. While the pure, unfettered "new wine" fruit of the vine, not being airtight, in time it would work, and the "new bottle" skins would stretch. Thus from year to year they preserved as best they could their grape juice until the "new wine" came on. In the forces of nature, Jesus taught is still making the same kind of wine that He miraculously made at the Cana wedding, which unfettered wine is as good for your stomach as it was in the days of Paul and Timothy.

When man takes the "new wine" from the cluster, lets it spoil and ferment until it turns color and moves itself right, then such "strong drink" becomes such an unmitigated curse that God pronounces a "curse" against the man who sows it, the giver, and the city or government that would build its revenues in such a way. Who would license the selling of spoiled and rotten fruit, vegetable, or grain? Then why defend for a moment the liquor traffic? After all, the "water wagon" is the safest, cheapest, cleanest, purest, and best.

STAMPLE WHITE.

WHO WAS THE WOMAN? Chicago, May 5.—In one part of your story you say, "The name of the woman who was said to have been from under world vengeance"; farther on, "the woman informant was a friend of Luperhimer"; and in another part you say, "the prisoner had told her full details of the delivery plot."

Which makes her identity as hard for the underworld—which lives by its dumbness—as it would be for a professor of history to piece together assorted pictures of Presidents Washington, Lincoln, and Grant. Surely this woman is in line for some tough payment for the great service she has done the police and the city. What right has Supt. Graham to give out such information? He having done so, the newspapers can hardly be expected to withhold it, although it would be more to the public interest than printing it. A. H. M.

MURDER AND PROHIBITION. Chicago, May 1.—That there are those who object to a certain law is the reason why the law should be repealed or modified. Laws are not bad because they are frequently violated. Murders, robberies, burglaries, assaults, and some other crimes and misdemeanors are more common now than they have been in certain former periods. The laws forbidding these offenses are good laws just the same. No fair and sane person would advocate the repeal or modification of any one of these laws because they are frequently violated.

Each law should be judged by its own merits. The laws against the indulgence in intoxicants and their manufacture are based upon a right theory. These laws should be maintained. M. H.

THE NEWER COIFFURE

(London Evening News.)

It is the fashion of the moment to wear the hair in a high, straight, and pointed style, with the hair pulled up and fastened at the top of the head. This style is known as the "newer coiffure." It is a very simple and elegant style, and it is very popular among the fashionable set.

SWIFT SPREAD OF RIFF REVOLT ALARMS BRITISH

Fear for Egypt, Suez Canal, and Eastward.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1925, By The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, May 7.—British observers are watching with close attention and some anxiety the development of the French campaign against the Riffs, for it is feared here that some contingency may develop involving a large part of northern Africa, Asia Minor, and perhaps even Egypt. The history of the development of the present situation is as follows:

Riffs Stick French.
Dictator Primo de Rivera replied that this could easily be guaranteed by occasional marches along the frontier by Spanish columns, promising that this would be done, but he never tried to carry it out. The Riffs, under pressure from famine and drought and crop failures, began to hurry tribes to so many land along the French frontier, pushing a few points into French Morocco.

French observers fear now that if Abdel Krim gains successes against the French, as is quite possible, it will excite the tribes in French Morocco who heretofore have been held in subjection. If the move is at all successful, it will have a repercussion in Syria, where the Arabs are bitterly discontented with the French rule, and this in turn will react in Palestine, where the Arabs are equally discontented with the British policy. From Palestine the flames might spread to Iraq, whereupon Egypt, seeing Great Britain involved in trouble, might seize the opportunity to revolt.

Menace to Egypt.
Should the Egyptians take such a step, there is little doubt that the British would revoke their grant of independence to Egypt, as it never formally has been accepted, although working under the British declaration, and proceed to reconquer the country. The whole situation is regarded here as full of dynamite.

TRIES TO END LIFE BY GAS IN PINE GROVE AV. FLAT

D. W. Garball, former secretary of the Mrs. Lambell company, 538 Lake Shore drive, and said to live at 5253 Broadway, turned on the gas in a flat at 5512 1/2 Pine Grove avenue early this morning in an attempt to commit suicide. A telephone call supposed to have come from another tenant warned the owner of the building who broke into the place and found Garball unconscious. The police were summoned and Garball was revived by a physician.

Some mystery attaches to the presence of Garball in the flat. It was rented only yesterday, the new tenants giving him as a reference. He was sued for separate maintenance by Mrs. Viola Garball, last January.

WANTED A General Manager

The owners of one of the best known drug stores in Chicago are now looking for an opening at once for a general executive to take full charge of both manufacture and sales. The man we want will perhaps be in a position to take a financial interest in the business, although this is not an essential. He must know the drug business thoroughly inside and out and be able to demonstrate by past experience and performance that he is capable of increasing an already large volume of business. This business has been established many years, upwards of two millions have been spent in advertising, and the firm is sold all over the world. This is a very unusual opportunity for the right man to become identified with a business offering opportunities as big as his. Information concerning yourself must be full and complete.

ETHER CARRIES
FROM HONOLULU

New York, May 7.—(A. P.)—An ordinary photographic negative today placed in a photoradiographic machine in Honolulu, a beam of light passed through it, and the complicated apparatus began clicking. One-fourth of a mile away, began dotting and clicking out a copy of the negative. Twenty minutes later the machine in New York had inked in the last dot of a complete positive.

Seven times this process was repeated, and seven pictures of persons and events in Hawaiian operations of the American army and navy last week appeared in editions of the New York newspapers. This was the first attempt to transmit pictures by radio and telegraph over such a distance.

Between Honolulu and New York not a human hand intervened. In the process, although four relays were necessary, each accomplished automatically by linked receiving and transmitting devices.

The radio photographic machine at Honolulu started the series of dots, dashes, and spaces on the first lap of their journey, 23 miles by telegraph, to the radio transmitting apparatus at Kalahe, island of Oahu. Automatically the wire currents were changed to radio waves for a 3,372 mile leap to Marshall, Cal., where they were turned again into telegraph current for a 19 mile wire relay to the transmitting station at Bolinas, Cal. Once more the Kahuku process was repeated to dispatch the picture on its transcontinental leap of 2,840 miles to the radio receiving station at Riverhead, L. I. Into wire current once more, and the pictures were delivered at the offices of the Radio Corporation, New York.

"We Do Not Menace Health"

said the Soda Clerk

"I used to worry about the rash because we clerks had to be careless with the glasses. Soda glasses are really dangerous if they aren't sterilized after every use."

"What do you do now?"
"Simplest thing in the world. We use soda glasses of finest and purest paper and throw them away when they have been used once."

"And that isn't all. The sanitary part is most important, but they also save money and make far better business. Think what that means—no breakage, or washing, or drying, or towel expense, or gas bills, or wasted time, and no messy, unsightly fountain."

"How do your customers like paper cups?"

"They are delighted. Our business is bigger than ever. People have been educated too well in the dangers of contagion from common glasses. Mothers insist on their children coming to our safe fountain."

"But don't the paper cups affect the taste of the soda or sundae?"

"Not these. They are not made of cheap paper. The kind we use are made of stiff, pleated paper. They are clean and tasteless."

LILY CUPS, of course! Whether you want them for fountain use, for your office or factory, or for outings, you can get them most quickly by telephoning DEArborn 3440. They are inexpensive, remember, and they give 100% protection.

POWERS INDORSE S. MOVE TO BAN WAR GAS EXPORT

BY HENRY WALES.

Senators today gave their approval to the proposed American resolution prohibiting the export of the chemical ingredients composing poison gases, and seven nations rushed forward to support the motion. "In principle," every one had a reservation or interjection except the two powerful gas-producing powers of Spain and China.

Thus, despite what may be the contents of the convention eventually reached, whether it incorporates all the United States' proposals or not, no nation need ratify it or make the agreement effective, finding the pretext that "we had our fingers crossed twice—once because there is no restriction on the private manufacture of arms, and the other time because Russia did not participate in the conference."

The high contracting parties therefore agree absolutely to prohibit the export from their territory of any such poisoning, potash or other gases and all analogous liquids intended or designed for use in connection with the operations of war.

There is considerable surprise that France and the little nations are not opposed to the Burton resolution, which leaves Germany, the principal gas producer, able to employ the provisions made by Mr. Burton to prevent France from obtaining supplies from England and the United States.

World Court Warships.
Rear Admiral Aubrey Smith, British delegate, asked that warships be united from the category of arms subject to international control. He pointed out that the traffic in warships could not be kept secret, and said that there would be little reason for including them in any arms traffic agreement.

Mexican Reds to Employ Sabotage to Reduce Prices.
Mexico City, May 7.—Red members of the Mexican general confederation of labor today decided the cost of living is too high and that they should use every means, legal and illegal, to lower it. They plan strikes, boycotts, and sabotage.

Italy said poison gas should be prohibited in any form from war. Hungary stated the Neutry treaty

ITALY CHARGES SOVIET HASN'T KEPT TRADE PACT

BY GEORGE SELDES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) (Copyright, 1925, By The Chicago Tribune.)

ROME, May 7.—One year after Italy made a treaty with Soviet Russia, thereby becoming the first nation to conclude full diplomatic and commercial relations, she has learned to her sorrow that it did not pay.

The senate, which was in session today, had an interrogation presented by Senator Garofolo which is bringing up the whole question of Italian and Russian relations. Senator Garofolo's inquiry was worded:

"Has the Italian government taken any measure to defend the country against the criminal propaganda carried on by Moscow agents under the direction of the third international?"

Italy's resumption of relations shocked Europe, the chief surprise being because the Fascist which rules Italy is the most bitter enemy of the bolshevism which rules Russia. Each is a dictatorship that hates the other; each has accused the other of the worst terrorism and each swore never to resume friendly relations.

Sought Commercial Profits.

But a year ago business triumphed over passion and, with the hope of obtaining big commercial profits, Italy signed diplomatic and commercial treaties with Russia.

All the Fascist press is campaigning again against Russia and there is a movement to drop relations once more.

The reasons are twofold: First, there is a fear of bolshevik propaganda; second, there has been a failure in the economic relations, especially as far as Italy is concerned, and the Italians charge that this failure is due to Russia not living up to her agreement.

Italy's industries have not benefited. Italy has exported only 9,000,000 lire (roughly $450,000) worth of industrial products, chiefly automobiles, bicycles, cotton, and woolen fabrics, lemons, and sulphur. On the other hand, Italy has imported from Russia more than 135,000,000 lire ($6,750,000) worth of wheat, minerals, and oil, making Italy Russia's best customer.

Russia Buying Elsewhere.

But Russia is Italy's worst customer, inasmuch as Russia agreed to spend at least half the value of its exports in Italy. Russia instead spent its profits buying German, American, and British goods, and Italy occupies the last place as Russia's creditor.

The Fascist papers now claim that the Soviet embassy attaches and officials and Soviet economic missions, consuls, and agencies are most active in Italian commercial circles.

The Fascists claim that inasmuch as the Soviets have not lived up to the treaties, Italy can cancel them. The senate interrogation is believed to be an entering wedge.

ZINOVIEFF WILL LEAVE MOSCOW; SEE END OF RULE

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

BERLIN, May 7.—M. Zinovieff apparently is finished as president of the third international. It was announced from Moscow today that he is ill and is going to take a long vacation in the Caucasus. At the same time came word of the return of Leon Trotsky, erstwhile minister of war who was sent into exile in disgrace.

This information, closely following an official Russian denial that any change was contemplated, gives the impression that the heads of the communist party are dissatisfied with M. Zinovieff's failure to produce the promised revolutions abroad.

The Sofia bomb plot, which cost some 200 lives but did nothing more than to heap odium on the heads of the directors of the third international, is probably the direct reason for M. Zinovieff's eclipse.

Back Capital's Return.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) RIGA, Latvia, May 7.—Widespread reforms in the government of Russia are expected to result from the All-Russian congress of Soviets which resembles the American house of representatives—opening in Moscow today. According to leaders of the Russian cooperative movement now in Riga, the bolshevik rulers are making a wide swing to the right, endorsing and permitting capitalism in Russia.

Many of these reforms already have been enacted by the fourteenth communist party conference, which has just closed, but the decisions will be brought before the congress for ratification. According to the Moscow Ivestia, important amendments are contemplated to the Soviet constitution, while the congress is expected to grant the Russian provinces political autonomy which will equal state rights in America.

Return to Capitalism.

Among the important changes, already decreed, which will come before the congress are: recognition of private property, both in the city and country; private banking will be permitted and encouraged through government credits; state banks, which will also support private industry; the taxation program which previously amounted to confiscation will be greatly modified, especially in the rural districts; all business men and traders who have been expelled from the cities during the last year will be granted amnesty and permitted to reenter business; peasants will be permitted to employ farm help; legal procedure will be drastically reformed; employers will be empowered to hire and discharge men without government control; piece work will be legalized and the power of the unions will be curtailed; city properties and factories will be offered their former owners on long term favorable leases and guaranteed against reconfiscation.

The above decrees, which change Russia from communism to a communist-capitalistic country, according to the cooperative leaders, are the result of M. Dzerzhinsky, chief of the state political police and president of the supreme economic council, suddenly switching to the side of Leon Trotsky, who is expected soon to address the congress.

Trotsky Returns to Moscow.

MOSCOW, May 7.—(A.P.)—Leon Trotsky, deposed Soviet war minister, returned to Moscow this morning from Sukhum, Trans-Caucasia, after four months' isolation, ready to accept any position the government may offer him. He probably will be offered the commissariat of foreign trade, vacated by Leonid Krassin's appointment as ambassador to France.

Trotsky was accompanied from Trans-Caucasia by a few members of his personal staff and by his wife.

"Plotter" Believed Swindler.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, May 7.—(A.P.)—The police today took into custody three persons—Karl Bergstrom, a Swede; a man named Bovie, who is believed to be a Frenchman, and a Swedish girl who gave the name Victoria Carlsson. At first it was reported that they were connected with a plot to kill Premier Stauning and other prominent persons, but the police later expressed the belief that they were not genuine communists, but crooks who were trying to swindle M. Kopecky, the Soviet minister.

MYSTERY SHOOTING VICTIM DEAD.

St. Louis, Mo., May 7.—(Special)—W. A. Davis, mysteriously shot Tuesday night, died early today without having given any clue to the identity of his assailant. He admitted the small revolver found near him was his gun, but the wound inflicted was by a larger caliber bullet.

"New dispositions for old corn." . . . That isn't an impossible bargain . . . Doctors know that a corn may plague a man's whole system—ragging his nerves, causing his temper—making him feel mean all over . . . For a corn isn't just a local pain. It's a pain-station on the "main line" of the nervous system. Tiny nerves telegraph its twinges all over the circuit . . . So Blue-Jay offers this fair exchange—"New spirits for old corns." . . . Solid comfort comes the moment you put on the soft and downy plaster. ## The High-Grade Gasoline

and You Buy More Miles per Gallon

Many think of motor performance in terms of "car"—as a matter of fact it is the gasoline in the tank that plays the leading part, for gasoline is the propelling force.

To appreciate this, recall that embarrassing incident of being "out of gas." As gasoline is the leading factor in performance, we are up to the point of quality.

Red Crown is the standard, high quality gasoline. It has stood the test of time; been proved and approved by millions of motorists.

It will produce more power—more speed—more mileage—per gallon, at a lower cost, than any other gasoline you can buy because the arrangement of the boiling point fractions is scientifically correct.

It vaporizes to the last drop—it delivers a bigger value per dollar spent than any other commodity we know.

BOGARDUS HEIRS MEET; SPEAKER FLAYS PAPERS

Annexed Jans Bogardus owned a small New Amsterdam where the family church of New York City now stands. Today the property is said to be worth many millions of dollars and approximately 1,500 persons claim the Bogardus as their common ancestor.

Those alleged heirs to the property organized into 34 societies. The Chicago branch, known as the Chicago Society of Advocates of Justice, met last night in the Grand Opera House building. About 250 persons gathered into the room.

The speaker of the evening was W. W. Gridley of New York, who pointed with pride to the fact that he has been disbarred from the practice of law in his home state. The meeting closed with the election of a newspaper photographer.

"I have no statement to give out concerning the purpose of this meeting," said the president of the Chicago society, W. J. Tomkins, 2021 Leland avenue. "We are still organizing."

"UNCLE JOE" AT 89TH MILESTONE; HAS CHAT WITH A WORLD FLYER

Danville, Ill., May 7.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, former speaker of the house of representatives, was 89 years old today. He spent the day quietly with his family, reading hundreds of telegrams and letters from all sections of the country. This morning he was visited by Lieut. Jack Harding, world flyer, and Lowell Thomas, historian of the world flight.

"Uncle Joe" is deeply interested in the development of aviation and recalled with a chuckle while talking with the flyers of how he once was called a reckless spendthrift of the people's money when he helped put through congress an appropriation to assist Prof. Langley in his experiments.

He enjoyed a morning romp in his library with his only great-granddaughter, Lucretia Houghtaling, 4. Mr. Cannon declined to comment on things political, but declared he has great confidence in President Coolidge's good hard common sense.

WOMEN START FIGHT IN COURT FOR JURY RIGHT

Women can do about everything else in the line of public duty that a man does, but they cannot serve on juries in Illinois. So to make all things equal, another battle was started Wednesday to pave the way for women jurors.

A bill was filed before Circuit Judge Hugo M. Friend in which the court is asked to command the jury commissioners of Cook county to restore on the jury list the name of Mrs. Hannah Beyer Pye, 214 South Euclid avenue, Oak Park.

Attorney Elizabeth Perry, who brought the suit in Mrs. Pye's behalf, declared it was supported by the Illinois League of Women Voters and other women's organizations. If necessary, Miss Perry said, the fight will be carried to the Illinois Supreme court.

The jury commissioners inadvertently only placed on the jury list the name of Mrs. Pye, which appeared on the poll books as "H. B. Pye," and gave no indication of sex, on the jury list.

Why I Took Up Golf

Leonard Hicks, owner of several hotels and president of the Beverly Country club, is one of Chicago's most enthusiastic golfers. He has answered the question, "What benefits do I derive from golf?"

BY LEONARD HICKS
WHY I took up golf? Hum—many of them. In the first place, when I was young I had to spend a lot of time working on books, and my eyes were weak and worn when I took up the ancient and royal game. I started out on the fairways, and now I can see as far as the next fellow, with my glasses, of course. I don't mean that the glasses have accomplished this change. Not at all. It's the exercise out on the green meadows and under the blue sky and in the pure air that has built up my optical powers.

That is the greatest benefit. You know, a hotel man's life is not like that of the ordinary business man. There is something for a hotel owner to do all the time. His business is always open, and unless he watches his health he is liable to go to a hospital. Now I work in the morning and play golf in the afternoon, and then it happens to be my little duties around at night I feel fit to do them. But I like golf so well that I take the time off and go out and try to beat the best every day, and that gets me away from the job. I don't know any other game that would accomplish this result in the same delightful manner.

Golf is the best pastime a man can find. Everybody ought to play golf.

There is no room for a hole by hole discussion of Onwentsia. Suffice it to say the course is almost ready for championship play. The greens are in excellent condition. The yardage is there. The holes are properly trapped. Give nature another fortnight and you'll look many a day for better golf. The open entrants will find satisfaction.

Pars and Birdies. Then that trio of shooters, Hunter, Dawson, and Macdonald, were pleasant to watch. They were—what's the way they went around, with a birdie now and then just to add zest. Remember it's still early in the season, there might have been more birdies. Hunter had a slight edge on the others. He has great precision in his work. ## MIDWEST GIVEN 27 QUALIFIERS IN GOLF OPEN

New York, May 7.—(Special.)—Officials of the United States Golf association and the Professional Golfers' association today issued out the long list surrounding the qualifying rounds for the national open and the championship itself. The number of qualifiers has been apportioned among the three districts as follows:

Eastern, 25 and five; middle western, 27 and three; far western, 5.

Those who did the apportioning were W. C. Fownes Jr., of Oakland, chairman of the championship committee of the U. S. G. A., Secretary H. E. Ramsey, President George Sargent of the P. G. A., and Secretary Bruce Anderson.

In making the apportionment, cognizance was taken of the caliber of the field in each qualifying section as well as the number of players.

The field of 270 players in the preliminary at Lakeview will be divided into two equal sections. The first section will play an 18 hole round Wednesday, May 27, and the second section an 18 hole round Thursday, May 28. The 136 low scorers of the first round will then play a final round of 18 holes Friday, May 29.

The club events brought together some new material which promises to enliven itself among swimmers this year. Among these more prominently known were the Miller sisters, Marjorie and Helen, and Edna Heinman.

The girls are being coached by Miss Marie Warner, formerly of the Illinois Athletic club.

Indian to Use Bowl Mich as Portage to Outdoor Show

"Chief" Easel De Coteau, Indian guide at Turtle Lake Red and Gun club, Winchester, Wis., will shoulder a canoe at the boulevard link bridge tomorrow at noon and will walk down Michigan avenue with the canoe on his back. His trip will end at the Coliseum, where the Outdoor show is scheduled to open tomorrow. The "chief" is a full blooded Chippewa.

Stars Take Part in Women's Club Swimming Meet

Sybil Bauer, Ethel Larkin, and Caroline Smith helped to make the first annual water meet of the Illinois Women's Athletic club a success at the Sovereign hotel tank last night. Miss Bauer and Miss Larkin gave speed exhibitions while Miss Smith did some excellent diving.

ONWENTSIAS NEARLY READY FOR OPEN TEST

BY MORROW KRUH.
Not many days ago a famous word chandler, a middle western gentleman whose facile pen has won him many friends, told me that golf stories should have the romantic smack of fiction, the color of a Hollywood yarn, the brittle action of an Oppenheim thriller.

The thought struck home yesterday while I played at Onwentsia, where the middle western qualifying rounds of the national open will be held. My companions were Willie Hunter, professional at Onwentsia; George Dawson, one of the city's best amateurs; and Frank Macdonald, another professional. The trio have entered the big show and were there to try the course, to try their shots, to try the greens.

Course Ready for Journey. The trio of players, the almost perfect day, and the delightful course brought more than one exclamation of pleasure from this humble student of the game. It was an affair to inspire grey-haired tricksters, but new columns are too short, too firm, in their boundaries.

There is no room for a hole by hole discussion of Onwentsia. Suffice it to say the course is almost ready for championship play. The greens are in excellent condition. The yardage is there. The holes are properly trapped. Give nature another fortnight and you'll look many a day for better golf. The open entrants will find satisfaction.

Pars and Birdies. Then that trio of shooters, Hunter, Dawson, and Macdonald, were pleasant to watch. They were—what's the way they went around, with a birdie now and then just to add zest. Remember it's still early in the season, there might have been more birdies. Hunter had a slight edge on the others. He has great precision in his work. University of Chicago golfers will open their entrance team matches tomorrow at Onwentsia, where they will meet Princeton. Capt. "Kenny" Elser will take the team to the Onwentsia at nine o'clock. Arthur Patterson, John Dwyer, and Joseph Lelover will go with him.

Northwestern meets Illinois at Northwestern, near Glen View, today. The individual event in the forenoon will be followed by the customary foursome after luncheon. Capt. Mike, Donald Horner, Joseph Larson and Louis Shultz will represent the Purple and White. John and Fred, two of the "Red" players, made famous. To secure the "Red" players play at Sun Arbor against the Wolverines.

IN MOTORDOM BY J. L. JENKINS

THERE may be a saturation point in the sale of automobiles, but the American public failed to stumble over it during the merry month of April, when all existing records in automobile production crashed down before the demand for new cars.

According to a statement issued in Detroit by Alfred Noyes, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, the industry's production total for April was 459,378 cars and trucks. This exceeds by 4 per cent the production peak of May 1931, when 454,328 cars and trucks were rolled into the roads from American motor car factories.

Dave Lewis, 44 year old transfer of the big speed paths, has incorporated Cliff Durant's front wheel drive "Junior Eight" racer to the state of Indianapolis. The car, one of two front wheelers entered for the 500 mile classic May 30, has the differential on the front axle instead of the rear, and the power is transferred from the motor to the front wheels.

Cyrus McCormick Jr. of the International Harvester company; W. H. Leford vice president of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad; and G. C. Woodruff of the New York Central are among the railway and motor vehicle executives who will throw out their mutual problems at the midwest motor transport conference in Chicago May 27-28. William M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture, will discuss the farm aspect of the present day transport situation.

N. DAME NETMEN LOSE TO OHIO

Columbus, O., May 7.—(Special.)—Ohio State netters upset the dope when they crashed through the strong Notre Dame tennis team here today for a 5 to 1 win. By downing the fighting Irish the Ohio State team ran up its string of wins to five.

She was looking at the door and at the door she saw a man who was not Larry. On her return Mrs. Franklin saw Larry. Two days later Mrs. Franklin was dead.

Larry toiled on, his teeth set in a beautiful, perfect rhythm, the "Don't worry," he said. "We haven't any grub, but telling how long it will last. The grub did not say anything to herself to a new and nameless creature who was a long point. There was something savage in

Plans a-Forming for Tennis Fridays at Saddle and Cycle

BY NANCY R.

What's the good of having a fashionable town club with rural privileges if they're never made use of? That is the question which is being asked by a group of active young matrons who are planning to form a "Tennis Fridays" at the Saddle and Cycle, when those on the roster—femininely speaking—gather at the exclusive and charming rendezvous on Lake Michigan's shores for tennis and luncheon and then more tennis.

There are five especially who are heart and soul for the idea—Mrs. Charles Edward Brown, Mrs. Noble Clark, Mrs. Edward Harris Brewer, Mrs. Frank Hubbard, and Mrs. Clive Hamilton. And they're each hustlers and each excellent company that it won't be at all a surprise to discover how long that Fridays at the Saddle and Cycle, those popular weekly events in Lake Forest where the petting half of the beau monde assemble for fun, sippers, food, and frills.

If only—as one of the five remarked—day or so ago, looking out at the sun and drizzly world—it only it seems to have to go and rain every Friday.

The Spur and Saddle club is getting ready for its first horse show. It's to take place next month, on the eighth, nineteenth, and twentieth, and although the entry lists aren't out as yet, there's much activity in the air concerning the approaching festivities. Among the prominent exhibitors who have promised to enter are: Austin Black, Otto Lehmann, Benjamin Lee, Dehr, E. J. Lehmann, John R. Thompson, Helen Morton Swift, Capt. Van Ingen, J. E. Derwin, and John Harris. The first three on the list by the way, were judges in the poster contest held by the Spur and Saddle club, to find the snappiest design, obtainable for their posters, and out of some twenty students competing they awarded the prize to Miss F. Madge Cooper, of the Academy of Fine Arts.

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 2

Tea Production Today

If the Chinese, who first discovered tea, had realized the possibilities of the trade and had studied the nature and requirements of the plant, China might still be the largest tea producing country. Centuries of neglect, however, stunted the growth and caused the quality to deteriorate. In the mountains of Ceylon and India, tea was found to flourish. Scientific methods of cultivation and manufacture were introduced with remarkable results. Now the finest tea grown in the world and by far the largest quantity comes from these countries. "SALADA" is mainly blended from flavorful India and Ceylon teas.

I receive seem to come in groups. So many of them lately have led to do with the color of shoes to be worn with certain suits. It seems as though all my readers have suddenly taken it into their heads to get new shoes. The most popular question has been as to whether black shoes can be worn with a light suit as well as light tan shoes.

This dainty frock suggests the recent tendency of dance costumes to place the waistline somewhere near its natural position. In fact, at recent affairs several waistlines dared to assume a place absolutely normal. The frocks presenting this phenomenon had bodices slightly molded and skirts made full and short.

Junior styles, in faithful pursuit of those created for adults, are, for afternoon and sports wear, stressing the use of prints. Almost the happiest treatment of these patterned fabrics for the girl from 14 to 18 is a tailored simplicity with white collars and cuffs. Needless to say, ensembles with plain coats lined with matching prints are sponsored quite as much for young girls as they are for less gifted members of the sex.

Never wear patent leather shoes with any kind of sport or lounge suit. Shoes with cloth uppers are not suitable for wear with cloth clothes.

Petalled Dance Frock Lovely for Sub-Dub

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—You know me—pet-all. Yes indeed, those who don't know intimately, and personally the petal treatment of the dance frock must be determined to remain aloof. It is one of the petal treatment of the dance frock must be determined to remain aloof. It is one of the petal treatment of the dance frock must be determined to remain aloof.

Nothing prettier for the young girl's dance frock than these lines and this variation has ever been devised. Today's model presents one interpretation executed in georgette crepe of deep rose color. The unadorned bodice, instead of being fitted, carries the silhouette of a slight blousing over the hips. It gains grace from the cascading ends of the large bow in self-material posed on the right shoulder. The layers of ruffles form the skirt and each one terminates in deep petal-like points.

MERGER LINKING ROCK ISLAND MAY SHAPE UP JUNE 1

Meet New Control from Southern Pacific.

The long discussed merger of the Southern Pacific railway system with the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad may reach the tangible stage after June 1 when Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific, retires under the company's pension plan.

He spoke J. E. Gorman, president of the Rock Island, at the annual meeting of the stockholders of his company yesterday. By his remark Mr. Gorman indicated that the proposed consolidation had some time ago reached a stopping point as a result of opinion held by Mr. Kruttschnitt. The proposed merger has long been favored by advocates of the interstate commerce commission's general program for railroad consolidations.

Rock Island Would Benefit.

"I have tried for some time to effect a stronger operating arrangement with the Southern Pacific, and I have hope that after June 1, when the jurisdiction of such matters on that line is changed, it may be done," President Gorman said. "Should the merger come the Rock Island would be a great beneficiary."

Mr. Gorman stated that the Rock Island at this time is turning over all its Pacific coast business to the Southern Pacific because of the logical increase in haulage. He added that in return the Southern Pacific gives to the Rock Island only perishable freight which requires fast service. He said that the Southern Pacific gives his railroad little of the heavier freight because it can get a longer haul through other connections.

Slow in Accepting Offers.

"I have tried to convince the Southern Pacific that by giving faster delivery over our lines and thereby securing better service to their customers they would profit in the long run, but they have been slow to accept, this viewpoint," he declared. "There has been much talk of such a consolidation and the managements of both systems have contended for some time that it would be logical."

The merger of the two systems would create a rail empire of nearly 20,000 miles. By adding the territory of the St. Louis Southwestern, of which the Rock Island has a working control, the system would reach from Chicago to the Pacific coast and to the Gulf of Mexico, something like 37,000 miles.

SEEKS RAILWAY CHIEF'S PLAN ON NEW TERMINAL

Definite action by presidents of the several railroads interested in plans for development of the near south side terminal area, was called for by Ald. Edward J. Kalnki (34th), chairman of the council railway terminals committee.

Next Monday a subcommittee will be named to visit the rail executives and learn what progress has been made toward completion of plans for the proposed $300,000,000 consolidated passenger and freight terminal.

One proposal provides that the railroads straighten the river and open La Salle, Wells, Franklin, and Market streets to the south side, as a phase of their terminal construction, while another would have the city straighten the river and open the streets, financing the work by special assessment on adjacent property benefited by such improvements.

Urge Delay in Vote on Child Labor Amendment

Action on the child labor amendment should be postponed by the Illinois legislature until 1927, according to resolutions reached yesterday by the Illinois committee for the ratification of the child labor amendment. Members of the committee, which is made up of representatives of 30 state organizations, decided that inasmuch as so many states have refused to ratify similar amendments, it would be best if Illinois waited for a time before considering passage of the law.

Townsmen and farmers near Seneca, Ill., agreed yesterday to subscribe to a fund to hire a geologist to prospect the land in the vicinity for oil. They also agreed, at a mass meeting, to defray the expenses of sinking a test well if the expert thinks it worth while. # FIGURES SHOW U. S. INDUSTRY LEADS GERMAN

BY SCRUTATOR.

Mr. Robert Harbo, of the local office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, has favored the writer with the following interesting view of the international trade situation. He discusses the advantages of the United States in the production of large plants, as disclosed by the number of plants employing more than 500 men in the United States and Germany.

"The chart in this April 27 issue of Commerce Reports shows that in 1931 there were 546 such plants in Germany. If we compare this figure with Germany's population (50,000,000 in 1931) we get a ratio of one to every 119,000 of German population.

"The United States industrial census for 1921 shows a total of 1886 such plants, which, when compared with the 1929 population of 106,000,000, gives a ratio of one plant of more than 56,000 workers to each 54,000 people.

"Carrying the idea of industrial development in this country still further, we find that six major industrial groups, namely, cotton textiles, iron and steel mills, food and shoe, foundries and machine shops, electrical machinery, and automotive vehicles total 536 plants of that character, which is forty-one more than for all industries of Germany.

"These figures should quiet the alarmists who have been rashly predicting German domination of international trade. Profitable creative industries must be built up on the natural demand of a domestic market.

"It is only natural that the products of the greatest market in the world, so great in fact, as to permit 1,241 establishments to employ 590 to 1,000 workers, and 445 upwards of 1,000 workers.

"It is only natural that the products of these methods should be in demand in foreign markets. Our steady increase in exports of manufactured goods is not a mere temporary condition, but a permanent tribute to American industrial genius. Our advantages in international trade over other industrial countries, I believe, summed up in the formula that greater purchasing power of the domestic market means increased ability to employ large scale and quantity production methods resulting in a quality product which, because of its approval by the market, proves its qualities to foreign purchasers.

"To this formula American manufacturers are now adding advantages arising from standardization, simplification and elimination of waste in industry and commerce. Economies brought about by the introduction of these factors, significant even when considered from the individual viewpoint of small establishments, become important in large scale operations and when observed by entire industries mean increased value to the purchaser, thus making our products still more desirable for foreign markets."

Wilson Co. Receivership

Dismissal Is Upheld
Philadelphia, May 7.—Efforts of Maurice I. Klein to throw Wilson & Co., meat packers, into the hands of liquidating receivers were blocked today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which upheld Federal District Judge Runyon of New Jersey, in his dismissal of the receivers appointed by Vice Chancellor Daches in August, 1931. Wilson & Co. charged that Klein had acquired his stock in the concern only a short time before he filed the suit and alleged that his motives were "ulterior" and for the purpose of "harassing" the packing company.

COTTON MARKETS

Cotton was under pressure from sellers build nearly the close, when profit taking by shorts made a small rally. The finish was of heavy 50-55 points in Chicago, with May leading. New Orleans was mostly 17-20 points lower, while May gained 5 points and New York closed 18-20 points lower in futures, with most 15 points lower, and New Orleans off 20 points.

Good rains in Texas, with predictions of precipitation in the eastern belt, combined with lower cables and unfavorable trade reports from abroad, and selling by the south and Liverpool, were depressing influences. A Chicago trader was a heavy seller of October, spreading operations were a feature, with purchases in Chicago and sales in New York. Cotton prices follow:

The Servant That Never Quits

MAN has one servant that never quits, never even tires, never wears out, never needs replacing; but goes on working and producing an income twenty-four hours a day, three hundred and sixty-five days a year, to the end of time. This servant's name, of course, is Safely Invested Money.

It builds power plants, makes iron and steel and shoes and ships, and grows food for the world's millions. There is practically no service it cannot perform. But it is at once strong and fragile. Properly watched and conserved it will produce forever. Subjected to the risks of speculation it may shrink or disappear entirely over night. Protection of this invaluable servant should be the first consideration of every investor.

It is our business to assist investors in the wise choice of securities offering safety of principal and certainty of income. A list of conservative bonds bearing our recommendation may be had upon request.

WHEAT SAGS ON EVENING UP FOR U. S. CROP REPORT

BY CHARLES MICHAELS

Heading up for the government crop report, wheat prices today closed with heavy profit taking by commission houses and relative weakness in Liverpool brought about a lower range of wheat and the close was 14¢ lower with September leading. Corn declined 14¢ on commission houses taking, while oats were off 1¢ 1/2 and rye 1¢ 1/2.

May and July wheat sold at a new high on the present report shortly after the opening, strength in Winnipeg with an advance of 1/2¢ to 11.50¢, being a factor. May has touched 11.50¢ and July 11.50¢, but the aggressive buying of the previous day was absent and heavy profit taking developed and a decline of 1/2¢ to 11.00¢ from the top followed, with a rally toward the last on buying induced by a private estimate that Kansas wheat for only 11.00¢, or 11.00¢, but less than last year's harvest.

Australian Wheat Sell

Wheatmen anxious of Australian wheat about have been pressing for sale abroad recently, and a sale of nine cargoes to Liverpool, reported during the day, is said to have cleaned up this grain. France was the best buyer. The foreign demand at the seaboard was slow with sales of around 100,000 bu. largely domestic grain. Some carry crop wheat were said to have been canceled.

Heavy selling of corn by cash and commission houses had a depressing effect, prices declining 5¢ from the top, but only to rally again toward the last. Western cash demand continued slow. Murray estimates the average this season at 104,542,000, or 1,440,000 acres in excess of last year. Harvest was for first over the greater part of the belt, and commission houses that replanting will be necessary are coming from Iowa.

Charters were made for 600,000 bu

Charters were made for 600,000 bu of wheat from Chicago to Georgian bay ports during the day, said to have been at a rate of 11¢ per bu. If the grain is loaded out immediately a heavy reduction is expected in local stocks for the week. Murray estimates the average at 11.00¢, an increase of 1.00¢, or 1.1 per cent over last year. Export sales were said to have been at 10.00¢ to 10.50¢ bu.

Provision Market Firm

From buying of September lard by a leading commission house and reports that the continent took fairly good quantities of refined lard and fat meats on consignment, offered made a higher range of prices. Lard was 14¢ higher for the day, deliveries on May contracts were 17.00¢ per lb. Prices follow:

"Though their goals are great the problems in this realm of yo

"Who shall venture to say
